

ACL Discontinues SARS-COV-2/Influenza by PCR (Test Order Code LAB11071) Combination Test

April 2022

Effective Monday, April 4, 2022, ACL Laboratories will discontinue SARS-COV-2/Influenza by PCR (Test Order Code LAB11071) combination test. This test is being discontinued because the SARS-COV-2/Influenza by PCR combination reagent is no longer being manufactured by the vendor, Hologic®.

Starting Monday, April 4, 2022, alternative laboratory tests for Influenza include:

- COVID/FLU/RSV Panel (Test Order Code LAB10789)
- COVID/FLU Panel (Test Order Code LAB10889)

In addition, on Monday, April 4, 2022, we will reverse changes previously made on March 23, 2022 to laboratory results for 2019 Novel Coronavirus (SARS-COV-2) (Test Order Code LAB10635) as identified below.

- The following statement will be removed from laboratory test results:

“Due to reagent supply levels, any COVID-19 test ordered will temporarily also include an Influenza test result. The patient will only be billed for the COVID test, and all required automated state reporting will remain intact.”

- Additional Influenza results and appended comments will also be removed for patients using the Live Well App.

If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact ACL Client Services at 800-877-7016, option 4.