

National Laboratory Testing Supply Shortage Affects ACL Laboratories Supply Inventory

November 2021

The supply chain throughout the country is stretched to its limit. Many laboratories and health care systems nationwide are experiencing hardship keeping up with demand with a limited supply inventory.

ACL Laboratories is no exception. We continue to face headwinds with the national laboratory testing supply shortage.

Please continue to place your laboratory supply order online (<https://acllaboratories.com/order-supplies/>), and we will do our best to fill your order. If there is a back order on any item you order, you will be notified by ACL's Supply Department.

Thank you for your patience as we all endure the challenges we face with the nationwide supply shortage, including laboratory testing supplies.

If you have any questions or need additional information, please contact your ACL Business Development Representative.
